

Fluorescein Angiography

A fluorescein angiogram is a map of your retinal and sub-retinal (choroidal) blood vessels. This test is used most often to detect diabetic eye disease and wet macular degeneration, and to determine whether you will required laser treatment or injection.

A fluoresceine angiogram of diabetic retinopathy