

Intravitreal Injections

Injections of Avastin, Lucentis, or a steroid may be recommended for treatment of diabetic retinopathy, wet macular degeneration, retinal swelling, or uveitis. Injections may help reduce retinal swelling and can improve vision.

